ImmunoPro® and RenewPro® are produced to best maintain the full range of all the fragile immune-modulating and regenerative components naturally present in fresh raw milk.

Using the finest biologically active non-denatured whey protein, both naturally contain the highest levels of lactoferrin, immunoglobulins, serum albumin, active peptides and growth factors. They contain exceptional amounts of the important protein components including the vital protein bound fats that whey protein isolates remove.*

The full range of biologically active proteins play a major role in the repair of RNA and DNA, antioxidant production (Glutathione precursors), improved liver function and red blood cell production, the binding and safe removal of heavy metals, wound healing, growth of new muscle and the support of various immune functions.*
